YANK PARATROOPS LAND BEHIND REDS

Fighting Soon Breaks Out As Enemy Tries To Set Trap

By OLEN CLEMENTS
TOKYO, Mar. 23—(AP)—American paratroopers bolstered by tough Rangers jumped today behind Communist lines north of Seoul and shocked some 20,000 Red troops into hasty flight.

The paratroopers filled the sky with their brightly-hued parachutes like a massive Easter bouquet.

But the Communist rallied later and were fighting desperately to surround and wipe out the 3,300 outnumbered American jumpers.

An armored column spearheading a fresh Allied drive by three divisions north of Seoul linked up with the paratroops near the drop area south of Munsan.

Lines of infantrymen trudged up the road for miles behind, moving to the aid of the hard-fighting 'chutists.

A second column rolled through the road center of Uijongbu and fanned out to the east, north and west.

But the Reds won back a commanding peak four miles northwest of Uijongbu and late Friday were pouring heavy artillery and mortar fire into the Allied positions.

Close To Parallel 38

Munsan is 21 miles northwest of Seoul and only nine miles south of Red Korea. Uijongbu is 11 miles north of Seoul.

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway landed in his light plane on a dirt road near Munsan only 29 minutes after the first paratrooper jumped.

Field dispatches said the Eighth Army commander at one time was in the thick of a heavy firefight.

The parachute operation was carried out on a fast schedule. C-119 flying boxcars roared over the one-mile drop area on express train schedule. The paratroopers had only 20 seconds from signal to "hit the silk."

Ammunition cases, jeeps and artillery billowed down after them.

"It would be beautiful—really beautiful—if it weren't so terrible," said a lieutenant colonel, describing the drop.

Ridgway, tight-lipped, told correspondents: "The purpose of this operation is to kill the enemy."

Earlier, some 60,000 Reds had been reported in the area, with dug in defenses 25 miles wide and 15 miles deep to the Red Korean border. It was not immediately reported whether the bulk of this force had fled across the border or was making a stand. They were identified as elements of the North Korean First Corps.

In Central Korea, an American patrol pushed within two miles of the border north of Chunchon. It met no Reds but was halted by the deep and swift Pukhan River.

But elsewhere in this central area, a field dispatch said, Red Koreans stepped up their resistance.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

Sitting here at my desk in the Record-Herald office, I can look across the street to the Burke buildings.

I recall when the lot was vacant from the room now occupied by Office and Coyt Stookey's watch repair and jewelry store to the East Street corner.

It was on that vacant lot where I first saw Uncle Tom's Cabin, with "Uncle Tom," "Little Eva," "Topsy," "Simon Legree" and "Eliza," as well as the bellowing bloodhounds which chased "Eliza" across the ice of the Ohio River. The "ice," however, was the stage with some imitation ice placed upon it.

As I recall, Eliza escaped the blood-thirsty bloodhounds by about two jumps.

I saw "Uncle Tom" and "Little Eva" die. It was a sad sight, and the audience was deeply moved!

The show, under a tent, was given by the Harcourt Company of Williamsport, which had two tent shows touring the country, and disbanded about 30 years ago after attaining much fame for producing the famous story written by Harriett Beecher Stowe.

tance. The Communists were dug in 10 miles south of the border around Red-held Mt. Kari, a 4,000 foot peak.

Farther east, a 2,000-man Communist rear guard force was observed 11 miles northwest of Pungam, moving toward the border.

Resurgence of Religious Spirit Evidenced Here As Many Join Churches

A resurgence of religious spirit is making itself felt in at least three of the larger churches of Washington C. H.

Evidence of that is in the number who become members of these three churches last Sunday, Palm Sunday, at special ceremonies.

This upswing of interest in the church did not just happen, however. It was the concrete result of a planned campaign carried on under the banner of visitation evangelism.

Plane Missing Over Atlantic

USAF Transport Has 53 Aboard

LONDON, March 23—(AP)—A giant U. S. Air Force transport plane with 53 persons reported aboard vanished in fog and rain over the Atlantic Ocean today while enroute from the United States to England. One of the passengers was believed to be a brigadier general.

Search and rescue planes from three nations scoured the wind-tossed seas in a thus far fruitless search for some trace of wreckage, survivors or life rafts.

Officials at Shannon Airport in Ireland said the big plane, a C-124 which is known as Globemaster II, radioed at 1 A. M. it had 53 persons aboard including a VIP (very important person) with the rank of a brigadier general. At the time of that report the plane crew gave their position as 800 miles southwest of Ireland.

The plane, of a type used to ferry personnel and supplies across the ocean, was enroute to Mildenhall.

Typhoon Rages Over Pacific

PEARL HARBOR, March 23—(AP)—A violent typhoon today was moving toward the U. S. atomic testing Atoll, Eniwetok.

Eniwetok, in the Marshall Islands, was not considered in immediate danger. The typhoon was not expected to reach the vicinity before late tomorrow.

The Atomic Energy Commission this week indicated new dual atomic tests have just begun, or will start soon, at Eniwetok. The tests are expected to produce the largest atomic explosions yet. They will test all types of air-planes, and will be recorded on instruments set up to measure their impact on structures and materials of many kinds.

A typhoon is unusual at this time of year in the Central Pacific. The typhoon rose in the Marshalls—an area seldom swept by such winds. It veered southwest yesterday on a course that would take it just north of Eniwetok. At that time, the storm was 600 miles east of Eniwetok.

Draft and Grades

CLEVELAND, March 23—(AP)—The executive director of the Jesuit Educational Association today backed a proposal to defer the drafting of youths with good grades in school.

But his long ears helped capture a Chinese soldier—the first war dog credited with such a feat in Korea.

"Rex heard him coming a long way," said Cpl. Robert G. Tracey of Portland, Me. "When he started pricking up his ears and pulling on his leash I knew something was wrong."

Rex is a black and brindle mongrel—one of eight war dogs in a K-9 detachment of the seventh cavalry regiment. It's the only unit of its kind in Korea.

Allied warplanes blistered the parachute drop area near Munsan ahead of the big jump.

Communist troops apparently were all around the paratroopers. An eighth army staff officer in the parachute force said there was continuous fire on the boundary of the drop area.

Pilgrims Trudge Over Holy Land On Good Friday

Route to Calvary Taken by Devout Despite Drought

JERUSALEM, March 23—(AP)—Thousands of devout Christians made a Good Friday pilgrimage through old walled Jerusalem today as a drought described as the worst in 80 years plagued the holy land.

Holy week devotions neared the joyous Easter Sunday climax after weeks of sunny, clear weather.

Pilgrims—hundreds from abroad—today followed the storied route taken by Christ as he carried His cross to Calvary.

Some groups, retracing Christ's steps, as usual carried with them large wooden crosses through the winding and narrow cobblestoned streets.

The 14th and last station of the "Via Dolorosa" is the tomb inside the holy sepulchre where Christ's body was believed taken after his death on nearby Calvary.

Tonight, in a medieval Roman Catholic service at the basilica of the holy sepulchre, a symbolic figure will be taken from a cross, bathed, anointed and laid in a tomb.

Archbishop Albert Gori, Roman Catholic Patriarch of Jerusalem and the holy land last night washed the feet of junior priests in a biblical re-enactment in front of the basilica.

A solemn resurrection service Easter morning, heralded by the ringing of the basilica's many bells, will be attended by a large number of foreign diplomats in the holy land.

1529 U. S. Marines Back from Korea

OAKLAND, Calif., March 23—(AP)—Easter 1951 is an important day in the eyes of 1,529 marines at the navy's nearby Treasure Island.

That is the date marine officers hope to have the Leathernecks—back in the U. S. after a year's fighting in Korea—speeding homeward on 30-day leaves.

They arrived here yesterday, the second group of Korean veterans to be returned to the U. S. on rotation leave.

In the Randall's hold were caskets of 72 dead fighting men. Simple memorial rites for the dead were held later across the bay at the army's Fort Mason in San Francisco.

President Is Back From Florida Trip

WASHINGTON, March 23—(AP)—President Truman returned to Washington late yesterday after his three weeks' vacation at Key West, Fla.

He was met at National Airport by several members of his cabinet and by Mrs. Truman, about whom he asked before departing her, "where's the boss?"

Boy Who Pushed Pal in River Relieved When He's Not Dead

Minister Knows Now Why Audience Sleeps

LIBERTY, Mo., March 23—(AP)—A minister has confessed to sleeping through a sermon—his own.

The Rev. W. C. Link, Jr., pastor of the Second Baptist Church here, was asked to preach one Sunday at St. Joseph. He made a tape recording of a sermon he preached in his own church so he could criticize himself.

He played the recording several times, then decided to have a last listen before delivery. Mr. Link awoke as the choir sang the closing hymn.

Expansion of TV Now in Prospect

Many New Stations In Ohio Possible

WASHINGTON, March 23—(AP)—Television's outlook for expanding into new areas is improving. But fulfillment still appears a long way off.

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) took several steps yesterday toward a possible ending of the 30-month-old freeze on new station grants.

Disclosed in a 26,000-word announcement, these include tentative plans for:

1. Adding probably 70 new TV broadcasting channels to the present 12. Most of the new channels would be in ultra high frequency (UHF) space.

2. Distributing the additional space to about 1,200 communities.

3. Processing applications for U. H. F. channels and resuming consideration of requests for increasing the power of the 107 U. S. stations now on the air.

4. Setting aside some channel space for schools desiring to offer television educational service.

5. Lifting the freeze on new space grants in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Commission members said, however, there is little or no prospect of any general "thaw" of the television freeze before October, and what will happen then is subject to the availability of station-building materials.

The FCC imposed the freeze Oct. 1, 1948 to halt the mushroom

Spring Short Over Midwest

(By The Associated Press)

Spring-like weather ended its short stand over midwest areas today as a blast of cold air from Canada moved across the border.

The cold air spread southward over the northern plains and upper Mississippi Valley. Temperatures dropped to near zero in some parts of the cold belt after yesterday's near normal marks.

Light snow fell in some parts of the midwest and the cold was accompanied by strong winds. The wintry weather was expected to extend over most of the central part of the country by tonight. But forecasters said no extreme cold appeared in prospect.

Boy Who Pushed Pal in River Relieved When He's Not Dead

COLUMBUS, March 23—(AP)—It was a relieved 10-year-old boy who learned today the playmate he says he pushed from a Scioto River bridge late Wednesday is alive and well.

The slender boy told a juvenile court officer:

"I didn't sleep very much. I thought he was dead."

The victim, Stanley Pappas, 9, was hauled from the chilly water by a motorist who threw him a life line from his box on the bridge.

The Pappas boy showed no apparent ill effects from his dunking.

His 10-year-old friend, however, had not waited around for the rescue.

He told Jack Nofz, the juvenile officer who questioned him, that he and Stanley had been fishing.

"His line broke and I laughed and he got mad. He called me some names and I chased him and pushed him."

"Did you hear him yell?" asked Nofz.

"Yes, but I went home. I was scared."

Boy Rescued In Snowdrift

DES MOINES, March 23—(AP)—Passing motorists waved and smiled at a small boy standing almost hip deep in a snowdrift alongside busy Highway 6 at the edge of Des Moines yesterday.

They didn't hear the frantic shouts of Dennis Smith, 10, or notice the tears of his sister Joyce, 11, who stood near him on the solid surface of the highway's edge.

What the motorists didn't realize was that Dennis had broken through a crust of ice and was trapped in the wet, clinging snow. His legs were becoming numb.

Joyce finally ran down the road a quarter of a mile to a highway commission weighing station. Dennis, meantime, wept quietly in his icy trap.

Miles Mason, a weighing official, ran back with Joyce and extricated Dennis.

"I thought I was going to die there," he said. "What if I had been alone?"

Doesn't Miss a Thing In Crime Hearing TV

KANSAS CITY, March 23—(AP)—Senator Kefauver, chairman of the Senate crime investigating committee, asked during a hearing in Washington yesterday that smoking be stopped.

Immediately the Kansas City station, WDAF-TV, carrying a telecast of the hearing, received a call from a woman viewer.

"Thanks very much for clearing all the smoke out," she said. "But that doesn't bother me so much as that fellow chewing gum back there. Could you ask him to quit?"

All 107 television stations in the country and the four networks (ABC, CBS, NBC and DuMont) will carry the movie, "Hill Number One" at least once. Most stations will carry it two or three times and some five.

Guzik Clams Up; Crime Hearing Has Day Recess

Racketeers Parade Before Inquisitors But Not Talkative

WASHINGTON, March 23—(AP)—Federal law enforcement officials set to work today on evidence of prejury and suspicions of tax Senate crime committee dramatic hearings into underworld operations.

The committee itself called a one-day lull after giving a balky Capone gang figure another chance to avoid contempt charges. It promised to produce shortly a pair of long-missing witnesses.

The group asked the Justice Department to study the record of its sensational New York hearings and determine whether anyone should be prosecuted for lying under oath. And a House committee asked federal officials to check on possible income tax frauds.

Jacob (Greasy Thumb) Guzik, reputed payoff man for Scarface Al Capone's old gang, was freed by the Senate crime hunters under $10,000 bond. They ordered him to reappear March 30 after he refused to answer questions about the Chicago policy racket and other underworld activities.

Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said that will be the last chance of the heavy-jowled Guzik to clear himself of contempt citations unanimously voted against him and three other gambling figures.

At the same time, Kefauver said, Guzik will be questioned further about the few answers he gave the committee yesterday when he figuratively thumbed his nose at the Senate inquiry.

The committee took a recess today. Tomorrow it will hear Louis Farrell, identified as a Des Moines, Iowa, liquor wholesaler, and Sidney Brodson of Milwaukee, listed as a reputed betting commissioner.

Kefauver said the group hopes to have Abner Zwillman of Newark, N. J., as a witness on Saturday. Zwillman, prohibition era figure, has been linked to Murder, Inc., in testimony before the committee. In New York, Zwillman called that ridiculous.

The pudgy, balding Guzik met most inquiries of senators and counsel with the monotonous repetition:

"I refuse to answer because it might incriminate me or tend to incriminate me or lead to some devious way to incriminate me."

When Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) asked Guzik if he had consulted a lawyer, the witness replied with one of his direct answers: "No."

"Where did you get this phrase you have been using?" asked Wiley, a lawyer.

"I heard it on television," Guzik replied. Spectators jammed into the ornate, high-ceilinged Senate caucus room roared with laughter.

Guzik even declined to say whether he had a brother Harry. Chicago sources familiar with the old Capone gang say Harry Guzik was known as "Greasy Thumb" and that Jacob Guzik inherited the nickname after his brother died in 1949. Both evidently got the name from their habit of licking a thumb while counting out money.

Kefauver told reporters he had been informed Guzik was seen before he testified with George F. Callaghan of Chicago, who appeared as attorney for racketeer Tony Accardo when Accardo was questioned by the committee here Jan. 5.

Guzik was one of 17 missing witnesses for whom the committee issued arrest warrants last month. Two more are reported to have been located and may testify Monday on the committee's inquiry into the Cleveland phase of its investigations. The committee did not name them.

As a climax of a stormy hearing at which senators accused top telephone company and Western Union executives of aiding the nation's gamblers by permitting them to use phone and telegraph facilities, the committee cited three other persons for contempt last night.

At the same time, they dismissed a contempt citation against James J. Carroll, whose lawyer said he had retired as a St. Louis betting commissioner.

Serious Trouble Facing O'Dwyer

Tax Evasion, Perjury Suspicions Raised

NEW YORK, March 23—(AP)—

Former Mayor William O'Dwyer faces income tax and perjury probes stemming from disputed testimony by a City Firemen's Union boss that he gave O'Dwyer $10,000 as "evidence of the support" of the firemen.

The Firemen's Union official, who is under grand jury investigation on other scores, gave the testimony before the U. S. Senate crime probe committee.

Income tax and perjury investigations also are in store for James J. Moran, long time friend of O'Dwyer who now is U. S. ambassador to Mexico.

The investigations, ordered yesterday by the crime committee now meeting in Washington, resulted from the New York hearing.

Carolyn, 19, a freshman at Western Michigan College, was abducted, ravished and strangled with her head scarf last Nov. 26.

It's Cold Again In Court House

Furnace Goes on Blink; Water Floods

Court House officials and attaches received a cold reception, Friday morning, when they reached the building.

The furnace had developed a pronounced leak during the night, and was out of commission.

Water was flooding the floor in the furnace room and spreading into the corridors of the first floor.

The situation was discovered by the janitor, who immediately called Associated Plumber repairmen.

Arriving on the scene, the furnace men found that the break was a serious one and that it may be days before it can be repaired.

A new section of the furnace, it was indicated, would have to be ordered from the factory, and the entire furnace torn down to install the new section.

A crack a foot or more in length had developed in one of the center sections of the furnace, and workmen said that even temporary repairs might be impossible.

In the meantime, workers in the building closed doors and tried to look nonchalant while very uncomfortable in the cold rooms.

Not all of the gas heaters had been removed from the offices when the furnaces were installed, and those who had the units found them a solution to the cold.

It was indicated Friday that if the furnace cannot be repaired for several days some of the gas heaters and electric heaters used before the furnace was installed, will be replaced.

Easter Open House Planned at Convent

Nuns of Our Lady of Victory Missionary Sisters today were making plans for an "open house" of the convent beside St. Colman's Catholic Church all day Sunday. A welcome will be extended to the public.

The occasion is to be the observance of the silver jubilee of Mother Catherine, superior of St. Mary of the Assumption Convent, and head of the convent here.

For 12 years, Mother Catherine was superior general of Our Lady of Victory Missionary Sisters at Huntington, Ind., before she came to Washington C. H. last September as mother superior of the convent here.

Sister Helen, who entered the convent at the same time as Mother Catherine, is a visitor at the convent here now and will share in the silver jubilee celebration.

Father Otto F. Guenther, pastor of St. Colman's Church, said the sisters of the convent were looking forward to Mother Catherine's anniversary with keen anticipation and had expressed the hope that the "open house" would provide an opportunity for them to make friends as well as for the people of the community to get better acquainted with them, their convent and their work.

A high mass is to be sung by Father Guenther at St. Colman's Church at 9:30 o'clock Easter morning honoring the jubiliaries.

A vocal trio composed of Joella and Amelia Burns and Esterly Tyne from Jeffersonville were also selected for this week's program, but other commitments prevented them from appearing. They will be on the show at a later date.

Selection of the winners of the program will be judged by watchers who send in post cards naming their choice. The cards are to be mailed to The Star Makers Review, WLW Television Station, Cincinnati.

Jack and Kemp have a tap dancing routine lined up for the review and Alvin and Eddie will sing, "A Simple Melody".

Religious Spirit

religious survey disclosed a definite upswing in religion throughout the entire community and all of its churches. They emphasized that it was by no means limited to the spearheads of the movement.

Rev. A. W. Caley, pastor of Grace Church, said that Palm Sunday's class was the largest he had ever received into the church during his 23 years in the ministry.

Rev. Harold W. Braden, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, gave credit to visitation evangelism campaign for many of the new members, but said "it (the religious spirit) has been growing here for sometime."

Rev. Francis T. McCarty, pastor of the Baptist Church, said he felt the results of the evangelistic movement stood as evidence of its success.

Efforts to continue the movement will continue, all three ministers said.

In 1950 infant mortality fell below 30 per 1,000 births in the United States.

Some 1,500 tool engineers are attending the annual meeting of the American Society of Tool Engineers here. Their leaders have pledged to the Air Force every help in rehabilitating existing tools now "bulging the walls of warehouses" where reserve stocks were stored at the end of the last war.

At their own meetings the emphasis is on new tools and the engineers brought out a rash of new ideas.

Defects are Detected

Ultrasonic testing to reveal defects where even X-rays cannot penetrate is explained by H. E. Van Valkenburg of Sperry Products, Inc. High frequencies of sound waves ranging up to ten million (the human ear stops at 15 thousand cycles) are sent into the product to be tested. Responses shown on instrumental indicators expose the hidden defects.

Electronic brains, complete with human inspector a run for his money in many factories. A. C. Sanford of Federal Products

Corp., Providence, R. I. says the new machines can sort, measure and count faster than humans. In glass tube making, the machine can measure the tube and then later, after the tubing is cut up, remember the measurement and direct each piece into the right bin.

Another process can forecast months in advance where failure will occur in an airplane engine, so engineers can change the design in time, says Greer Ellis, consulting engineer of the Magnaflux Corp., New York. An extremely brittle material is sprayed on the part to be tested. Under the test load the metal may stretch slightly, but the brittle coating won't. It cracks like glass, even if the metal beneath it is deformed as little as one ten-thousandth of an inch per inch of length. The potentially weak part, which otherwise might have escaped inspection and gone on for months before cracking up, is thus detected in time.

To conserve up to 15 per cent of scarce sheet metal and speed up production, Melvin and Dan Verson of Verson Allsteel Press Co., Chicago, offer a new press-working process. Mechanical hands move the work-piece from die to die, and new presses eliminate the old-style scrap strip and thus use nearly all of the material.

High speed steel tools are being rapidly replaced by carbides to cut production time and conserve plant space, machines and manpower, according to Thomas Badger, of the headquarter manufacturing engineering laboratory, Westinghouse Electric Corp., Pittsburgh.

New carbide cutting tools could be made to move through steel at 16 miles an hour or better, according to W. R. Coomey, general superintendent of Rice Barton, Corp., Worcester, Mass.

Tumbling is a device that can use dry ice, or nut shells, or stones, cinders, cracked corn or ground corn cobs. Hubert M. Goldman of Enthone, Inc., New Haven, Conn., and Adolph Bregman, consulting engineer, New York, say that tumbling can produce mirror-like finishes on metal and non-metallic parts at a fraction of the cost of hand polishing.

Tumbling has been used for some time but some of the abrasive mediums are new to the game. The trick is to polish a large number of parts at one time by putting them in a barrel with nut shells, or whatever, and rotating the barrel. Each medium is useful in doing a particular kind of job. Dry ice, for example, is good at removing the fine molding fins from the edges of rubber products.

Inoculation Required For World Travelers

GENEVA—(AP)—The World Health Organization has compiled and published a list of inoculations required by 122 countries and territories for travelers. Copies of the list can be obtained from national health administrations, port and airport health authorities, steamship navigation companies and airlines.

A reminder of the period of validity of certificates of vaccination or inoculation is also included. Figured from the date of immunization they are valid for smallpox inoculations from 14 days to three years; for cholera, seven days to six months; for yellow fever, 10 days to four years; for typhus, one year.

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Mar. 23—(AP)—No fix for nix or pix. Looks like Frankie "The Hands" Costello and Jim Carroll, St. Louis odds-maker, got away with saying nix on TV pictures of them testifying.

So the two big questions raised by them will go unanswered until someone else raises them, questions which must have occurred to millions watching the Senate's Kefauver crime investigating committee on TV this week:

1. How would you feel if you were called to testify before a congressional committee and, facing a battery of TV cameras, knew that every twitch of a face muscle was being watched by millions around the country?

2. Do you think you'd have a right to refuse to testify before TV? If you did and later were convicted, after a trial in federal court, of contempt of Congress, you could be jailed for a year.

The answer to No. 2 will not be known until someone some day flatly refuses, is convicted of contempt, appeals to the supreme court, and gets a decision from that tribunal which always has the final word.

A person on the witness stand before a congressional investigating committee is not on trial in the strict sense although the testimony he gives may discredit him or actually lead to a later trial and jail for some offense.

The supreme court itself has rigid views about what should be permitted inside federal courts where people are tried. It has ruled absolutely no pictures of court proceedings. That means not only TV but no still newspaper photos and no movies.

It doesn't necessarily follow that the court would rule that no pictures—or at least no TV pictures—can be taken in a congressional hearing if a witness doesn't want to face the cameras.

The Kefauver committee itself may have had some doubts about its right to force a witness before it to testify in full view of TV. The first test on this question came in St. Louis from Carroll.

He was called to testify but refused when he saw the TV lenses. The committee was preparing to ask the full Senate to cite him for contempt. Once that happened, he'd have to stand trial in federal court on the contempt charge.

But meanwhile the committee moved to New York where it called Costello. He, too, refused to let the TV machines picture his face while he was testifying. But he consented to letting his hands be TV'd.

That satisfied the committee. Only his hands were shown.

Carroll, apparently taking a leaf from Costello's book and not wanting to make a test which might land him in jail, notified the committee this week that he'd testify. He was scheduled to do so today. The committee agreed to let only his hands be TV'd.

Carroll's excuse in first refusing was that he didn't want to be an object of ridicule in the TV cameras, meaning on the screens in millions of homes. He said this sort of thing outraged his sense of privacy.

He may not have been on solid ground with that objection since nothing in the constitution precisely covers that point or any other point connected with cameras, since there were no cameras when the constitution was written.

But Carroll's attorney offered another reason for his refusal and may have been on firmer ground. He said Carroll might be so excited, under the pin-point eye of TV, that he couldn't testify.

Government Is Not Interested in Bargains

Newspaper and radio reports of big profits made by individuals in buying surplus military goods after the last war, have caused a lot of people to wonder why some of this material, which was not of the kind to deteriorate quickly, was not saved for emergency purposes by the government.

When World War II ended not so many years ago, the government owned huge stocks of supplies which has been purchased by the military department for war purposes. Those in authority must have believed there would be no more war because little thought apparently was given to conserving these stockpiles.

Almost countless items were disposed of at prices far below their real cost and value. Here is where speculators and some political favorites got into the "big" money game. Great stocks fell into the hands of these speculators. One fairly prominent political leader was reported to have admitted that he formed a company to buy war-surplus ships and that the company sold out in four years at a profit of $2,800,000. This man received a return of $270,000 for himself on $20,000 he invested.

Some time ago war-surplus jobbers became numerous and formed an organization for mutual benefit.

These jobbers arranged an exhibit of their wares in Kansas City, making it convenient for the government to learn of their stocks and determine what could be used in the preparedness program. Apparently the government has not been interested, because no official buyers have shown up to as much as take a gander in the inventories, according to report.

Many of the articles in the hands of the jobbers were taken out brand new, many can be purchased for a fraction of the price the government is paying manufacturers for identical items.

These supplies were purchased from the old War Assets Administration, at prices much less than their real value. It would seem that here was an opportunity for the government to save some real money on the cost of preparedness. The government may have valid reasons for passing up these bargains, but they are not readily apparent to most taxpayers.

Mental Stresses

A psychiatrist calls attention to the fact there are more people in mental institutions in the United States than in all other kinds of hospitals.

Why is that? Because modern civilization is one of tenseness and pressures. Because this generation, after two world wars and another threatening, is disposed to view the future in a hopeless frame of mind. Because the politicians, who promised freedom from fear, have been engaged in activities which can only have the result of making people more fearful—such as wasteful government which threatens to make savings useless and concentration of government power which threatens to deprive Americans of their freedom.

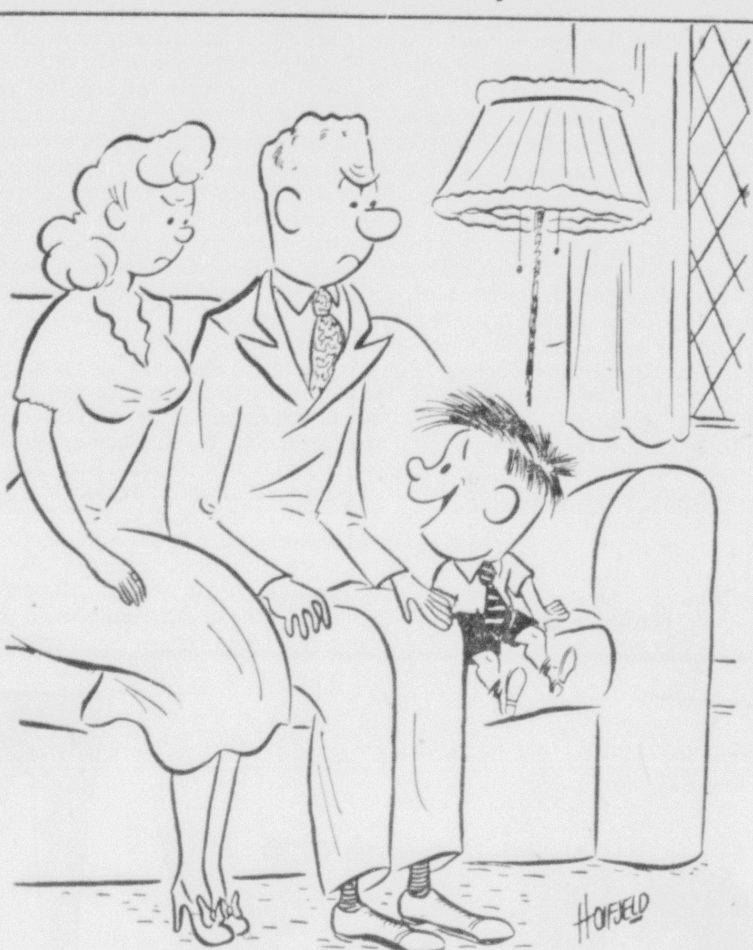

Moral standards have slipped to the point that human derelicts are common and parents worry about the temptations that beset their children. Youth has been cut loose from restraining disciplines with results that are not encouraging.

Many people today feel it is impossible for them to be "captain of my soul and master of my fate". They are adrift emotionally and mentally, lack positive beliefs in things outside material considerations. There are voices that warn the mental status of Americans as a mass will not improve until total materialism is abandoned for cultural and spiritual planes that promise mental easement.

Sidelights of Today

While Senator Kefauver has been working away at exposing the links in the gambling-political corruption-big money chain, retired policemen are living like kings in the swankiest resort hotels, according to report. Maybe somebody can induce them to say something more than, "I refuse to answer, etc."

Laff-A-Day

"Oh, you don't have to worry about that. There's no school tomorrow."

Diet and Health Special Treatment For Severe Burns

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
In severe burn cases, treatment of the burned area is the factor of least importance. To anyone who has ever seen the raw and ugly surface of a massive burn this may seem strange, but every doctor knows that his patient's life depends less on soothing burned flesh than upon the more generalized results it brings about in vital body functions.

Of first importance is the prevention and treatment of shock which comes on so rapidly after severe burning due to the great loss of blood fluid from the burned area. This not only depletes blood volume but brings about harmful chemical changes which, together, cut down the oxygen supply to vital organs, preventing their efficient functioning, and allowing poisons to pile up in the system. Heart, liver, kidneys, and lungs all suffer. Thus, it is essential that lost fluids be replaced. This can be done by injections of salt solution and by the giving of plasma and whole blood directly into a vein. The amount needed must be carefully determined and the body's deficit made good each day.

Such patients need rest and, if they are to get it, pain must be controlled. This can be done by injections of morphine or demerol.

Following destruction of the skin which normally serves as a protection against infection, the burned area is, of course, invaded by germs which may set up serious infection.

The prevention and treatment of this condition is best accomplished by the use of such drugs as penicillin by injection under the skin, and of some of the newer antibiotics such as aureomycin and chloromycetin. Infection may be further discouraged by the use of sterile dressings over the burned area. One of the most serious infections which may occur after a burn is tetanus or lockjaw. For this reason, every patient with a severe burn is given a prophylactic injection of tetanus antitoxin, or tetanus toxoid if he has been previously inoculated against tetanus by the toxoid.

Locally, the area is treated best by means of sterile dressings in combination with compression by means of sponges to exert pressure on the area burned. This pressure prevents additional fluid loss. In addition, rest of the area involved must be maintained.

It is suggested that the severe burned area be given the benefit of early skin grafting if it is required. A severe burn case is a major surgical procedure and requires prompt and competent help.

NEW YORK, March 23 —(AP)—Are you weary of stories of atom bombs, germ warfare, strikes, crimes and the high cost of living?

You are? That's fine. Because the only story I have to tell today is the story of a happy time—two weeks in Bermuda.

Frances, the girl who cashes my pay check, had been wanting to go there for several years. She said she felt sure it would be like Quebec, where we once spent a summer vacation.

I thought this was one of the most illogical remarks I had heard in nearly 14 years of marriage.

"Look," I said, opening the atlas to a map of North America. "Quebec is way up north. It is part of Canada and most of the people still speak French. Bermuda is a collection of semi-tropical Coral Islands in the Atlantic Ocean, and the people speak English. How can they be alike?"

"Well," said Frances. "I think Bermuda will be like Quebec because we had a nice time in Quebec and if we go to Bermuda we'll have a nice time there, too."

Humbly, I shut the atlas. The feminine mind has a logic above the bare statistics of geography. And so we went to Bermuda. We flew down in a Pan American clipper. In the seat across the aisle sat a tall man with a distinguished moustache. He turned out to be Secretary of State Dean Acheson, and an agent of the airline introduced us.

Later we found the Achesons were our neighbors. They had a cottage adjoining ours at the Coral beach club, and a bodyguard assigned by the Bermudian government stood watch day and night.

We used to see the secretary striding up and down the beach in an old weathered jacket patched at the elbows with leather.

Once I overheard a couple of elderly ladies -- Republicans probably--discussing him.

"I don't believe in a thing Washington is doing these days, but he does seem like such a nice man," said one.

"Yes," agreed the other; "and isn't it comforting to see someone in the government wearing patches?"

For two wonderful weeks we spent the days swimming in azure water, and soaking up sunshine on the warm white sands. War and woe seemed far away.

It had to end. And it did end. On the way to the airport for the flight home I remarked to Frances:

"You know, we came all the way to Bermuda -- and we haven't seen a single Bermuda onion."

"The taxi driver laughed. 'We used to grow a lot here,' he said. 'We shipped them to the states. Now the states grow their own and put up a tariff against ours. But they still call them Bermuda onions.'"

Churchill's Doubts about Russia

In a recent discussion in this column of Roosevelt's idea in 1943 of using the four powers, the United States, Russia, Great Britain and China, to police the world, an idea which culminated in the ill-fated security council of the United Nations, I expressed some wonder as to what Winston Churchill might have to say about it.

On October 21, 1942, Winston Churchill wrote to his foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, expressing grave doubts as to the wisdom of such a four-power solution of the problems which face the world.

happens in subsequent volumes of his memoirs, Churchill will explain to us why he did it or how it happened. He may even tell us of the pressures put upon him by Roosevelt, who was bent on appeasing Russia whatever the cost to ourselves or to humanity. It is a pity that so far as we know, Roosevelt left no memoranda to aid our understanding of his motives or designs.

This is what Winston Churchill wrote: "I must admit that my thoughts rest primarily in Europe--the revival of the glory of Europe, the parent continent of the modern nations and of civilization. It would be a measureless disaster if Russian barbarism overlaid the culture and independence of the ancient states of Europe. Hard as it is to say now, I trust that the European family may act unitedly as one under a council of Europe. I look forward to a United States of Europe in which the barriers between the nations will be greatly minimized and unrestricted travel will be possible. I hope to see the economy of Europe studied as a whole. I hope to see a council consisting of perhaps ten units, including the former great powers, with several confederations -- Scandinavian, Danubian, Balkan, etc. -- which would possess an international police and be charged with keeping Russia disarmed. Of course we shall have to work with the Americans in many ways, and in the greatest ways, but Europe is our prime care, and we certainly do not wish to be shut up with the Russians and the Chinese when Sweden, Norwegians, Danes, Dutch, Belgians, Frenchmen, Spaniards, Poles, Czechs, and Turks will have their burning questions, their desire for our aid, and their very great power to making their voices heard...."

Sunday School Lesson

By ROY L. SMITH

It is an exceedingly significant comment on the vitality of the Christian faith that the churches are always crowded on Easter Sunday. Millions of worshippers many not understand fully their own reasons for attending divine worship on that day, but they are paying—perhaps unwittingly—their tribute to the basic fact of Christianity.

Still Remains a Great Mystery

A very great deal associated with the feast of Easter is still a mystery. Why it should be necessary for the holiest man who ever lived to die upon a cross is a question that puzzles even the most profound Christian thinkers. Just how much Jesus understood of the divine plan, and how much was a mystery to him, is something no man can answer with positiveness. But these questions, interesting and mystifying as they are, do not constitute the central theme.

Our Debt to Easter

Without the resurrection of Jesus there never would have been a Christian Church. It was upon this fact that the first century Christians reared their institution, and upon that fact it has continued to this day.

Without the resurrection of Jesus there would have been no Christian theology. Everywhere the Christians went they were called upon to explain who Jesus was, and what the source of his power was. Of course, the resurrection raised these issues. In their efforts to explain, the Christians developed their theology.

The Sunday School lesson for March 25: "Through Death to Life (Easter)." Mark 15-16.

Without the resurrection there would never have been any New Testament. Each book in that sacred collection owes its origin and existence directly to the fact that Jesus Christ had risen from the dead. If he had not, then it is highly improbable that a single line of Christian scripture would ever have been written.

Without the resurrection even the teachings of Jesus would have been forgotten. The world had many other teachers, even in Jesus' day, and some of them were very wise and very devout. There are those who say that everything Jesus said had been said before, but the one reason we remember the things Jesus said is because he rose from the dead.

Without the resurrection of Jesus the world's faith in immortality would be dim indeed. It is true of course, that other religions, teach this doctrine. But the solid base that the resurrection provides for the doctrine is unmatched in any other religion to which the sons of men give devotion.

The Resurrection and the Present Crisis
The resurrection of Jesus, however, has a vastly greater significance even than a demonstration of personal immortality. Though it is a bulwark for that faith it is also much more.

The resurrection of Jesus is a notification to the world that evil does not have the last word. God has that.

Caesar's cross, the soldier's spear, and the verdict of Pilate's court were all set aside when that tomb was opened and Jesus walked forth alive.

We are face to face with a world that is in desperate straits. Vast forces are arrayed against those institutions and ideas which we believe to be right and true. Easter comes this year as a reassurance that atomic bombs, hydrogen bombs, and all the weird energies with which the molecules are packed are themselves subject to the God who raised Jesus from the dead.

Let no man who has been right or true be discouraged. Let no one who has invested in righteousness be alarmed. Let no one who has put his trust in the resurrected Christ be in terror.

All these—and we—belong to a God who cannot be terrified by the worst of these other things can do.

Easter means that God will never be crowded out of his own world.

Presbyterian Church Has New Secretary

The First Presbyterian Church here today has a regular secretary-treasurer to handle details of its administration.

Mrs. William C. Allen, 330 Hopkins Street, appointed to the position about a month ago, has accepted it and is now getting into the full swing of the work.

Mrs. Allen gave up her position with the Air Materiel Command in Dayton to enter church work in her home town. She had been with the Air Forces in a civilian capacity since 1942.

Her work with the Air Materiel Command was largely in the personnel division where she served as principal clerk in the employment and separation branch. Later she was administrative assistant to the chief of the suggestions and awards branch. This branch had jurisdiction over the suggestions and awards program in the Air Force. It was under supervision of the Air Force personnel division in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Allen's experience in personnel work and in handling funds relative to her position with the Air Force are considered important qualifications for the secretary-treasurer of the church.

GOP Leaders Back Redistricting Plan

COLUMBUS, March 23—(P)—Republican leaders in the six counties of the 17th congressional district today insisted on redistricting.

They adopted a resolution favoring revision of the district at a meeting in Columbus last night with Congressman J. Harry McGregor, West Lafayette Republican.

The resolution said the group felt counties should be added to those already in the district, if any changes are to be made. Spokesmen pointed out the district has about 290,000 population. A total of 350,000 has been urged as the best number for a district.

Pupils Tell Story of Easter In Own Words at Yatesville

Vertrice Trimble

David Frederick

A boy and a girl in the Yatesville school each received chocolate bunnies with their names on them for writing the best essays on the Easter story.

Vertrice Trimble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Trimble, and David Frederick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Frederick, were the two winners of the contest. Vertrice is in the eighth grade taught by Mrs. Fallis Paine and David is in the fourth grade, a student of Fallis Paine.

Eight other students received prizes during the Easter party which was held Wednesday afternoon. Aquilla (Bud) Dawes and Jimmy Trimble both got prizes for finding the most Easter eggs during the hunt and Howard Temple and Susie Massie received prizes for making the prettiest Easter baskets.

Leroy Barton, Jimmy Trimble, Linda Frederick and Martha Halterman were given prizes for writing good stories on Easter. The story of Easter was first read to the children after lunch. They had the party and then sat down to write what they had remembered of the story. The two best ones selected by Mr. and Mrs. Paine were the two written by Vertrice and David. Their stories are as follows:

By VERTRICE TRIMBLE

Jesus told John and Peter to go into town and make ready the guest room in which the last supper was to be held. That night Jesus and the 12 disciples gathered.

Jesus took off His outer garment and tied a towel around Himself then filled a basin with water and began to wash the disciples' feet. When He got to Peter Peter said: "Never Master would I let you wash my feet."

Jesus said: "And never shall you live in my kingdom."

Peter said: "Yes, my Master, you may wash my feet, my head and my hands."

Jesus said: "All but one of you are clean, for all of you will betray me." And all the disciples cried, "Is it I, Master?" and Peter made signs to John to ask Jesus who it was.

Jesus said: "I will dip this bread into this dish and give it to the one who is to betray me," and He handed it to Judas and said, "You had better go on your mission," and Judas knew his secret was out and left in a hurry.

He knocked on the door of the hall where Jesus' enemies waited. They said, "Who is it?" and Judas said, "The one who you wait for" and the enemies gave Judas 30 pieces of silver.

Jesus and the disciples left and went to the olive orchard to pray. Jesus wanted the disciples to pray with Him, but they were asleep. He tried three times to awaken them. Jesus said, "Awaken, for I must soon go." They awoke and watched Jesus' enemies coming.

Jesus asked: "Whom do you seek?" They said, "Jesus of Nazareth" and Jesus said: "It is I" and they fell back and again Jesus said, "It is I."

Judas came and kissed him and said, "O, Master" for that was the way the soldiers were to know Him and they took Him prisoner and Peter drew out his sword and cut off one of the soldiers' ear and Jesus said: "Put away your sword" and touched the soldier's ear and it was well.

They took Jesus to the king and put Him on trial. The priests said put Him to death. But the king said take Him to the governor, who was Pilate.

They started asking Jesus questions but Jesus would not answer to them. Peter tried to enter but the girl at the door would not let him.

When John came and told him to enter he gathered around a charcoal fire to warm his hands. When a servant girl said, "You are one of the followers of Jesus of Nazareth," Peter denied it.

Jesus said to Peter, "You will deny my name three times" and they led Jesus away to be crucified.

They put a thorn crown upon His head and blindfolded Him and mocked Him and spit upon Him and left Him to die between two thieves. A rich merchant said to Pilate, "May I bury Him," and Pilate gave him permission and he clothed Him in rich linen and put Him into a cave which joined a garden and rolled a rock up against it and sealed it and asked Pilate for soldiers to guard it.

A lot of women planned to go and get Him, but when they got there the cave was opened and He was gone and the guards were asleep.

Mary went into the cave and looked into the grave and saw two angels sitting, one at the head and one at the foot.

She said, "Where have you taken my Master, what have you done to him? Please tell me where you have laid Him," and she turned and Jesus said, "Why are you weeping woman," and she said you have taken my Lord away, and Jesus said, "Mary" and she knew Him and said, "Master."

BY DAVID FREDERICK

"Where shall we have your last supper," asked Peter. Jesus replied, "follow a man with a pitcher of water on his head."

Peter and John went unto Galilee. There they saw a man with a pitcher on his head, they followed him to a house where a man greeted them. He was a friend of Jesus. He led them to a room upstairs. Later Jesus and the others reached the house.

First Jesus got a basin of water and washed his disciples' feet. They looked at each other in amazement. When Jesus got to Peter, he pulled his feet back and said, "Lord, you mustn't wash our feet," Jesus said, "If I don't wash your feet, you belong not in my kingdom."

After Jesus washed his disciples' feet he said, "one of you will deny me three times."

"Which one shall it be," they asked.

"The one I hand a piece of bread to". Jesus said. Jesus dipped bread in a cup and handed it to Judas. Then Judas ran out the door and down the street. He came to the enemy's home.

They gave him 30 pieces of silver to deny Jesus.

Jesus led his disciples to a garden. He told eight of them to stay there. He took John, Peter and James with him to pray. While he was praying the disciples fell asleep. Then Jesus saw a crowd of men coming toward him. They took hold of him cruelly and took him away.

Peter awoke hearing the noise, drew his little sword that he kept in his belt and cut off one of the enemy's ears. Jesus told Peter to put his sword away. Then they took Jesus into a house. Then Peter went into the house. The doorman was a bright eyed girl. She stared at Peter, the said, "You are one of Jesus' disciples."

"No", said Peter, "I don't know the man".

A man was warming his hands. He said "you are one of Jesus' disciples".

"No", said Peter, "I don't know the man".

Then another man said, "You are the one who cut off my ear". Just then Peter saw some men dragging Jesus through the hall. Peter ran out into the street. He thought as he went down the street, he had denied Jesus thrice.

The enemy made a cross of wood and made Jesus carry it to the hill top. There they nailed him to the cross by his hands and feet. They put a crown of thorns on his head.

Jesus said, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do".

The enemies of Jesus stood around and mocked him.

The sixth hour the sky darkened and Jesus died. Then a bad earthquake tore the rocks apart. Then they knew that Jesus was the Son of God.

A rich man named Joseph took the body of Jesus from the cross and wrapped it in linen cloth. He buried Jesus in a tomb by the garden. A large stone was rolled before the door to seal the tomb.

On the morning of the third day some of Jesus' friends came to the tomb and found the stone rolled away and the body of Jesus gone.

An angel appeared and told them Jesus had risen from the dead. The women ran to tell the disciples the news but they didn't believe it.

Mary Magdalene was looking for the body of Jesus and as she sat crying by the grave, a voice asked her why she was crying. She saw it was Jesus. He told her he was going to Heaven, but some day he would come again.

smaller than their American cousins, probably due to poor diet. Korean dogs are a lot more shy, too.

The dogs are trained seven hours a day, seven days a week. It takes six weeks to train a dog for sentry duty and longer for more complicated patrol work.

A dog is trained and handled by only one man. The war dog leads a patrol and his handler goes with him—always a dangerous job.

The veteran of the outfit is Tippy, a German shepherd-Chow mixture. He patrols with his handler, Pfc. James D. Matty of Snow Shoe, Pa.

The dogs live in the open, tied to stakes, and sleep on clean straw. They eat corned beef and oatmeal once a day.

"We need more dogs," Mooren said. "I think the boys are going to pool their money and buy a few in Japan."

Cpl. Floyd T. Abrahamson of Dallas, Tex., acts as first sergeant of the dog detachment. Others assigned to the unit are Cpl. Theodore D. McKelvey of Crestwood, N. Y., Cpl. Donald J. Smith of Dallas, Pfc. Joseph C. Riley of Macomb, Ga., and Cpl. Curtis A. Remfrey of Cornwell, N. Y. Cpl. Tracey's mother, Mrs. Virginia I. Henry, lives at Peak Island, Me.

Canada Fines Mayor

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. — (AP) — Mayor F. O. Robinson was one of 20 householders who forfeited fines and court costs of $10.50 each for failing to produce their radio licenses when inspectors made a check.

Absenteeism Slows Budget-cutting Job

WASHINGTON, March 23— (AP) — Holiday absenteeism was blamed today for slowing down a House drive to cut President Truman's $71,600,000,000 budget for the fiscal year 1952.

Rep. Taber of New York, Republican spearhead of the cutting move, was disappointed but not discouraged by the initial results—a cut of 1.3 percent in the first departmental appropriation bill passed this year by the House.

"We would have done much better if the members had stayed here a little longer instead of leaving early for the Easter recess," Taber told newsmen. "Perhaps it was just as well, because a few days at home with the voters will convince the members that the people want economy."

What's Mere Fracture When Blood Is Needed?

MT. VERNON, Ill. — (AP) — A woman offering herself as a Red Cross blood donor was surprised when a physician turned her down, saying:

"You have a broken arm."

This was news to Martha Livesay, the would-be donor. She had fallen on ice the day before but her wrist had only swelled a little. X-rays showed the fracture.

And They Both Won

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — On Feb. 19, 1952, Oklahoma's present governor, Johnston Murray, met his future wife, Willie Emerson.

It was at the Hucks Hotel during a state Democratic meeting. They were backing different candidates for vice chairman. Murray's man won. Miss Emerson won her man.

ECA Continuation Seems Probable

WASHINGTON, March 23— (AP) — Top government officials have reached general agreement that the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) should be continued indefinitely as the agency to handle this country's foreign economic operations abroad. It is now scheduled to be disbanded with the end of the Marshall Plan in Europe in 1952.

The agreement was described by informed administration officials today as part of a deal by which the state department will have full control over policy relating to foreign economic operations and its ambassadors abroad will have final authority over all missions in the countries where they are stationed.

Congress will have the final say on continuance of ECA, but administration leaders expect approval of their plans.

Big Ten Champs Face Kentucky

Coach of Wildcats Says He's Worried

NEW YORK, March 23—(AP)—Spirited, hard-driving Illinois is next in line to try to waylay heavily-favored Kentucky in the NCAA basketball championships, and already Adolph Rupp is losing sleep over it.

"I'm worried," the veteran Kentucky coach said today. "Illinois looks mighty good and my boys are tired. This big Bob Peterson of their's is liable to give our Spivey a lot of trouble."

Illinois and Kentucky clash Saturday at Madison Square Garden in the eastern finals, the winner qualifying to meet the western victor for the championship at Minneapolis next Tuesday. The western finalists will be determined tonight at Kansas City.

Both eastern finalists produced a lot of late "kick" last night to subdue stubborn adversaries before 14,214 at the Garden.

THE WILDCATS from Lexington, Ky., held to even terms for 35 minutes, staged a devastating drive in the last five minutes to stun St. Johns of Brooklyn, 59-43.

Illinois' underrated big ten champions also uncorked a stirring finish to repel North Carolina State, the southern conference champion playing without three of its veteran stars, 84-70. The Illini looked as if they could run all night.

Rupp felt it is known that his biggest concern was how Kentucky's seven-foot Bill Spivey would fare with Peterson, the jumpy who holds down the pivot job for the Illini.

At Kansas City, Oklahoma A. and M., second ranked nationally, had more trouble than anticipated with little Montana State, 50-46, and Washington's Pacific coast champions had less than expected with Texas A. and M., beating the southwest titlists, 62-40.

Tonight the Aggies and Washington play in one of the semi-final western games. Kansas State, the high-scoring tournament favorite, meets Brigham Young, national invitation tournament winner, in the other game opening the program at 9 P. M. (EST). The western finals also are Saturday.

Training Camp Baseball Briefs

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 23—(AP)—The world champion New York Yankees are getting some good pitching from rookie righthander Tom Morgan, who went five innings yesterday without allowing a hit as the Yanks beat Sacramento, 11-0. The 20-year-old boy from El Monte, Calif., now has a string of 13 scoreless innings.

SURPRISE BY NEWHOUSER
LAKELAND, Fla., March 23—(AP)—Hal Newhouser tells this one on himself.

An elderly feminine fan button-holed him in the hotel lobby for his autograph. She gushed about how Hal was her "favorite pitcher" and she'd come a long way to see him.

So the start Detroit southpaw obliged immediately and wrote his name in her book.

"My goodness, Mr. Newhouser," she said, "I never knew you were left-handed."

REDS HIT...AND ERROR
SARASOTA, Fla., March 23—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds got the hits yesterday again—but they also got the errors and the sour pitching.

The result was a sandlot 11 to 10 victory for the Boston Braves. The Reds got 17 hits. The Cincinnati came in here today for another "road" game against Boston's Red Sox and Willie Ramsdell was slated to start the pitching chores.

Manager Luke Sewell probably would be the first to admit he'd rather forget yesterday's game. Lloyd Merriman's two-run homer in the tenth went to waste under a combination of errors and hits in the brave half of the extra frame.

And particularly discouraging was the fact the Braves nicked Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati's pride and joy, for six hits and seven runs.

EASTER BACK IN ACTION
LOS ANGELES, March 23—(AP)—Luke Easter, the Cleveland Indians' big first baseman, is swinging a bat again.

Sidelined two weeks with an elbow injury, Easter took a few whacks yesterday at batting practice. He socked one pitch over the right field wall.

The Indians could have used some of Luke's old time power yesterday. They lost their fourth straight exhibition game as Chicago's Cubs won, 8-7, in the tenth inning.

Chuck Connors, rookie first baseman, pounded the deciding blow. He singled with the bases loaded, driving in Rason Jackson.

FRED HUTCHINSON, Detroit Tigers' pitcher who is official player-representative of the American league, announced in Florida that baseball owners will be petitioned in July to give the players a part in choosing a successor to Happy Chandler and warned that if that request is refused the players may hire their own commissioner—perhaps Chandler himself. "Players feel we could pay a commissioner $40,000 a year to represent us," Hutchinson was quoted as saying. (International)

The quintet was picked from among the more than 20,000 kids who appeared on the state's 880 class B squads during the year.

Love Is Growing In Modern Japan

Emotional Change Increases Marriage

By O. H. P. KING

TOKYO, Mar. 19.—(AP)—Love is becoming more popular in Japan as a reason for getting married.

This was disclosed recently in a preliminary report on a two-year study best described as a Japanese Kinsey report.

The study by the Japanese government's welfare ministry compares love life in the city and in the country, before and after World War II.

The survey questioned 1,500 persons. It was directed by Nobuo Shonozaaki of the ministry's population problem research section. It will be submitted to the population institute in Washington. Findings will be disclosed at a session of the Japanese academy of science in April.

Results of Survey

Some general results made public in the preliminary report:

Marriages for love now comprise 31 percent of the total, compared with 14 percent before the war.

Ninety percent of the rural women want their mates-to-be to be chaste before marriage; 71 percent of city women feel the same.

Of the minority in the cities, 10 percent said that what men did before marriage was their own concern, unless they contracted disease. Some said they felt premarital experience would give husbands improved sex techniques valuable to wedlock.

Seventy percent of the men questioned voted for purity in the women they desired as wives. About 20 percent of the minority said they believed it was hopeless to find one without some sex experience.

Both Japanese and foreign organizations in recent years have tried to acquaint the public with means of planning parenthood. The report indicated the scope of these campaigns still is small.

Birth Control

The survey figures showed from 4.2 percent to 16.5 percent of urban married couples questioned practice birth control, compared with 3.4 to 4.8 percent in rural areas.

Success of preventive measures varied from 76.9 percent to 88.2 percent in the cities and from 50 to 66 percent in the country, the survey said.

Brides go to the altar earlier in the cities, the study showed—at an average of 22 years, eight months, compared with an average of 24 years, nine months, in rural areas.

Shinoski said he began his door-to-door survey in April 1949 and obtained frank replies from men and women in all parts of Japan although he often was threatened with physical violence when persons he approached resented the nature of his questions.

Welfare ministry officials said they expect the report to shed light on various phases of the country's critical population problem.

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE

ERRON HAD acquired boldness. Jennet saw at once that he wasn't the young man who had stammered and turned beet-red when addressing her. Even now while he was answering Quint's questions, his eyes kept coming to her where she sat and she had to drop her own before them.

"The lucky pennant's still a-flying, Miss Jennet. It's white now but I guess it'll stand for luck, just the same."

"She knew by his 'ook that he was remembering the day she had put it in his hand."

Quint spoke: "Have they armed the brig?"

"Aye, Manned ner. They tried he, out on the river. A battery opened up on her but she slid through the shot like she was charmed. Grand'dad said he was awful sorry you weren't on hand to see."

"No, I wasn't on hand," said Quint, grimly. Then, "You'll have supper with us, lad? My wife is away but Jennet and Becky see to it that we have 'ood plenty."

"It'd be a pleasure, sir," Erron looked at Jennet but it was only her back he saw for she was flying out of the room.

She found Becky upstairs. "Erron Piers is back from war. He's here. He's staying to supper." As she spoke she was dragging Becky by the arm toward the bedchamber Becky used now. "We must pretty you up!"

"Me?" said Becky, bewildered.

"Don't be stupid. Hurry—take off that dress—wear this one of mine. Brush your hair the way I showed you. Rub your cheeks hard. Pinch them." If the officers of the army and militia had snapped orders at their men as Jennet was snapping them now at Becky, the war would have been over. "And get your hands clean," she threw over her shoulder as she left the room.

Quint had taken Erron into the bar. Sarah was stirring up the fire on the kitchen hearth. Jennet felt briskly to work helping her prepare the supper, a little abstracted smile on her lips.

Becky joined them, her cheeks flushed from more than the pinching she'd administered to them, one of her Christmas ribbons binding back her hair. Jennet surveyed her, nodded her approval.

"How d'do, Miss Becky," said Erron when he came in with Quint. And the color on Becky's face deepened. She was able only to

Stunt Man's Hotfoot Is Blamed on Prank

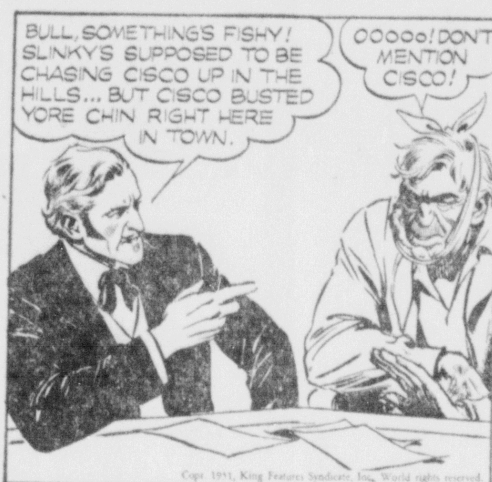

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)—William Spaeth's specialty is walking barefoot across a bed of hot coals. It isn't difficult, he says, if you have tough feet and the coals are set up right. This time somebody crossed him up.

Spaeth says you should use small bits of charcoal sprinkled on a bed of sand. As you step, the embers sink into the sand with no damage to the foot.

From a hospital bed where he was recovering from second and third degree burns on his soles, Spaeth said that at a rehearsal for his act, somebody used king-size coals. They didn't sink.

Protest Letter Brings State Official Here

Highway Department Engineer To Make Report after Visit

Members of the committee which had written the state highway department, asking that action be taken to lower weights on trucks to protect as far as possible those Fayette County state highways which are showing much damage, feel that there is little probability of such an official order being issued at this time.

The committee's letter of protest, presented by request to the state department by Secretary Howard Allen of the Fayette County Auto Club, resulted in a trip here by one of the department's engineering officials to obtain first-hand inspection data and other information.

Frank Higley, maintenance engineer of the highway department's sixth district, which includes Fayette county visited Allen at the auto club office Thursday afternoon and the chairman of the committee which wrote the letter of protest, was called into a session.

Higley stated he would make a report on the situation, but it was reported he indicated, as his personal view, that the department might not consider taking action at this time.

Reason he gave was that with the winter season practically ended it was unlikely that the trucks would do enough further damage now to justify the department in taking drastic action, which would have to affect the entire length of highways damaged only in small stretches.

He indicated that the overloading of many trucks was causing the state department much difficulty, but that pending legislation in the Ohio General Assembly, if passed, probably would go a long way toward clearing up the trouble.

Three Are Bitten By Rabid Squirrel

Three boys in Wilmington were bitten this week by a squirrel, which is believed to have been suffering from the rabies.

The boys bitten were: Richard Buchanan, Nick Babb and Rickie Stonner, all of Wilmington.

Three squirrels were killed in the vicinity after the boys had been attacked and painfully bitten by one of the animals.

All of the boys are taking the Pasteur treatment to prevent rabies. Heads of the animals were sent to Columbus for examination.

A fourth boy was attacked but the squirrel ran away after biting through the boy's clothing.

ing testimony by John P. Crane, president of the AFL Uniformed Firemen's Association.

He, too, faces income and property investigations.

"Goodwill" Offerings

Crane swore he gave $10,000 in cash to O'Dwyer and $55,000 to Moran, the former in a political campaign and the latter as goodwill offerings.

O'Dwyer and Moran both told the committee they never took money from Crane.

O'Dwyer said he made another denial of the money-taking charge before a Manhattan grand jury looking into Crane's record in regard to some $135,000 purportedly missing from the Firemen's Union funds.

After the O'Dwyer-Crane testimony before the senators about the purported $10,000 contribution, committee counsel Rudolph Halley commented "one man is lying."

Moran, appointed to the $15,000-a-year lifetime job of city water commissioner by O'Dwyer just before the latter left office last year, resigned his post yesterday under threat of ouster by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) probe committee chairman, said he asked the justice department and U. S. Attorney Irving H. Say-pol in New York to go over the entire record of the hearing in New York for possible perjury prosecutions against O'Dwyer, Moran and others.

hall Air Base in Suffolk, from the base at Limestone, Me. At Limestone, officials declined to give out any information as to the number or identity of those aboard. First reports said only 17 were aboard.

The U. S. Third Air Division in Britain said it did not know how many were aboard.

British, Irish and U. S. planes were engaged in the search for the Globemaster, which normally would carry life rafts.

VIP Believed Aboard

The Royal Air Force control station directing the search operation said the plane carried a Brigadier General Cullen. This report aroused belief that he was Brig. Gen. Paul T. Cullen, deputy commander at Barksdale Field, near Shreveport, La., who left there Wednesday for a European destination.

The U. S. Third Air Division headquarters here and the Royal Air Force said they had no information about the number of persons aboard. The British Press Association did not announce the source of its information on the number.

Air Force headquarters here and in Washington also would not confirm that Gen. Cullen was on board.

American and British search and rescue planes, some carrying lifeboats, combed the area where the plane was last reported, but saw no signs of the missing Globemaster, even after it was presumed to have exhausted its gas supply.

That type plane normally carries its own life rafts, equipped with ample food, water and clothing to enable its passengers to survive for some time.

The search planes reported low ceilings and bad weather in the area.

The missing plane took off from an intermediate stop at Gander, Newfoundland, at 4:20 P. M. (11:20 A. M. EST) yesterday and was due at Mildenhall at 5:20 A. M. (12:20 A. M.) today.

The first alert was sent out at 3:49 A. M. (10:49 P. M. EST Thursday) after the craft failed to give further position reports.

No information was received from any of the weather ships along the route which the huge craft was supposed to follow.

Auto Dealers Receive Order

Price Ceiling Guide Books Must Be Shown

New and used car dealers in Fayette and the other 28 counties in the area under the Columbus District Office of Price Stabilization have been advised by Director E. F. Wagner that they must submit names of official guide books they use to comply with ceiling regulations for auto sales.

Supplementary Regulation 5 requires dealers (including dealers in new or used automobiles and trucks) to file a written statement with the district OPS office (Columbus District OPS address is 68 East Gay St.) showing the official guide used during the base period (December 19, 1950, to January 25, 1951, inclusive) or the official guide which the dealer selected.

This new amendment states the dealer (new or used car dealer) must file such a report in 30 days after making the first sale of a used car under the regulation. Effective date of the regulation was March 2, 1951. Failure of both new and used car dealers to file this official letter within the period specified to the Columbus OPS district office, will automatically place dealers (new or used) in violation of ceiling regulations pertaining to used car sales.

Wagner emphasized that only three guide books are acceptable for the Columbus district. He identified them as: N. A. D. A. Official Used Car Guide, Jan. 1951 issue; Red Book National Used Car Market Report, Jan. 1951 issue; and Blue Book National Used Car Market Report, Jan. 1951 issue.

The 29 counties covered by the Columbus district include: Franklin, Athens, Belmont, Coshocton, Delaware, Fairfield, Fayette, Gallia, Guernsey, Harrison, Hocking, Jackson, Jefferson, Knox, Licking, Madison, Marion, Meigs, Monroe, Morgan, Morrow, Muskingum, Noble, Perry, Pickaway, Ross, Union, Vinton, and Washington.

Radio and TV Repair Shop Makes Move Here

Budd Radio and Television Repair Service has recently completed a move to 317 South Main Street from its former location at 118 East Market Street.

The shop is now located behind the Finney & Son Motor Sales Co., in a space recently vacated by the Dandy Potato Chip Co., which used the space for storage.

The repair shop had been at the 118 East Market Street address since April, 1949.

Inconvenience in finding parking space for his customers was the reason given for the move by B. H. Mills, owner of the radio shop.

Auto on Fire Here

An automobile owned by Harry Sussard of Lansing, Mich., caught fire as result of a short circuit in the wiring at 11:05 P. M. Thursday.

The car was on East Temple Street and fire, reaching the scene first, extinguished the fire. Damage was estimated at $10.

Methodists and Presbyterians Have Easter Party

Youngsters from the Methodist Junior Sunday school department of Bloomsburg entertained the members of the Junior Sunday school department of the Presbyterian Church Thursday afternoon in the Methodist Church with an Easter party.

Almost 80 boys and girls participated in the games and contests and group singing during the afternoon.

A guessing game on the number of Easter eggs in a jar was won by Nadine Noble and June Moberly for the girls and by Sammy Ward, Billy Boyd, and Butchy Mann for the boys.

Jackie Elliott and Zana Cowdrey won a prize for cutting out the best Easter bunnies.

Five youngsters gave the Easter Story during the entertainment. They were: Michael Foster, Ronny Grim, Larry Huff, Linda Lou Ashbaugh and Katy Adams.

Mrs. Harold Pope told the youngsters a story about Easter and Rev. Guy Tucker, of the Bloomsburg Methodist Church, talked to them.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jerry Nessell, Mrs. Harold Pope, Mrs. Donald Mossbarger, and Miss Betty Oswald. Assisting these women were: Mrs. Guy Tucker, Mrs. Dennis Welsh, Mrs. Ray Grim, Mrs. Hugh La Follette, Mrs. Robert Huff and Mrs. Earl Davis.

B&O Training Many Soldiers for Jobs

The B&O Railroad is helping the U. S. Army Transportation Corps train its men for railroad operations.

At the present time over 200 soldiers are training in B&O yards and terminals in and near Baltimore.

The railroad has agreed to accept 600 additional soldiers for on-the-job training, so that in theaters of operations they will be capable of operating the railroads supplying combat forces.

The training includes telegraphers, clerks, maintenance-of-way employees, signalmen, firemen, conductors, trainmen, train dispatchers and shop workers.

During World War II the B&O trained soldiers under similar conditions in its railroad shops at Willard.
